Duration

July 22 – July 24, 2025

Hazard Types

Extreme Rainfall

Hazard Summary

Severe rainfall is currently affecting parts of eastern Myanmar (including Nansang, Mandalay, and Taunggyi), northern Thailand (notably Chiang Rai, Wiang Fang, and Nan), and northern Laos (Pha-Oudom and Luang Nuea). Satellite data shows intense precipitation bands with sustained wind flow, increasing the risk of flash floods, river overflows, and landslides in hilly areas. Residents in low-lying and flood-prone zones are advised to remain alert, monitor local updates, and prepare for possible evacuations. This advisory is in effect for the next 24–48 hours. Stay safe and follow guidance from local authorities.
