

With a population of more than 160,000, a Persian Gulf-front city in Iran reported a heat index of 152°F (66.7°C) this week. Both human and animal life cannot exist in these conditions.